

Priya's Learning Centre

Present Perfect Tense Worksheet

Present Perfect Tense is an important & interesting tense.

Structure of Present Perfect Tense:

If subject is singular, then Has + Past Participle of Verb

If subject is plural, then Have + Past Participle of Verb

It is used:

- a) To indicate completed activities in the past (with adverbials) -> He has just gone to his office.
- b) To talk about an action which began in the past and is continuing till the present moment -> I have known her for a long time.
- c) To talk about past actions whose time is not given -> I have read Inferno by Dan Brown.
- d) To talk about past experiences -> I have seen this movie before.

Exercise:

1. I _____ there for ten years. (live)
2. My grandmother _____ a fortune during her younger days.
(make)
3. We _____ each other for so long. (know)

4. I _____ never _____ caviar. (taste)
5. It _____ just _____ nine. (strike)
6. He _____ three books about world politics. (write)
7. John _____ on this path before. (walk)
8. Mr. Sharma _____ to Korea. (be)
9. I _____ his wife. She is a lovely lady. (meet)
10. Sneha _____ to Paris for a week. (go)
11. We _____ not _____ her for a while. (see)
12. Megha _____ a new business. (start)
13. The students _____ their lesson notes. (read)
14. Scientists _____ recently _____ a new metal. (discover)
15. Kailash _____ just _____ back from his vacation. (get)

Answers:

1. I have lived there for ten years. (live)
2. My grandmother has made a fortune during her younger days. (make)
3. We have known each other for so long. (know)
4. I have never tasted caviar. (taste)
5. It has just struck nine. (strike)
6. He has written three books about world politics. (write)
7. John has walked on this path before. (walk)
8. Mr. Sharma has been to Korea. (be)
9. I have met his wife. She is a lovely lady. (meet)
10. Sneha has gone to Paris for a week. (go)
11. We have not seen her for a while. (see)
12. Megha has started a new business. (start)
13. The students have read their lesson notes. (read)
14. Scientists have recently discovered a new metal. (discover)
15. Kailash has just got back from his vacation. (get)

Share this:

Customize buttons

You and 31 other bloggers like this.